An island-born artist and graduate of Punahou, Mrs. Conlan is well known for her shell designs. Her interest in shells dates from the days when she was vagabonding around the world on the yacht, "Stranger." Her shell collection is one of the largest in the United States.

The Hawaiian fashion show and luncheon will take place around the Rancho Del Monte swimming pool, beginning at one o'clock. Among the models for the show will be Mrs. Waldemar Funke, Mrs. John Storm, Mrs. James Hughes, Miss Pat Green and Mrs. Douglas Bradburn. Modeling children's fashions will be Sherry Conlan, Lindy Conlan, Lee Conlan, Patsy Porter, Sandra Hughes and Marcia Hughes.

LOCAL BLOOD BANK COLLECTS ALL-TIME HIGH

One hundred eight pints of blood--an all-time record for the Carmel-Monterey mobile blood bank unit--were collected last Thursday as patriotic citizens came by the score to answer the pleas for whole blood to be flown to the Army in Korea.

The Red Cross has been designated as official blood collecting organization for the Army, and a large percentage of the whole blood collected Thursday was on a plane headed for Korea by Friday. Two hundred fifty pints had been requested for the shipment, and it was the large turn-out at the Monterey blood bank that made it possible for this quota to be filled.

Local needs have not been overlooked, however, and hospitals

SEWER SITUATION IN HATTON FIELDS IS CLEARED UP

Bids on construction costs of the two sections of the proposed Hatton Fields sewage disposal system were opened at Monday night's meeting of the Carmel Sanitary Board--with the result that it now looks as if the area will get its sewers at a cost which will keep the unhappiness of some of the residents down to a minimum.

Almost everyone who attended the meeting was pleased to learn that the lowest bids totalled only $242,846.40, a big difference from the $418,411.00 estimated by district engineers. The low bid of $181,424.10 on Section A (covering sewer construction) was submitted by Manuel Smith of Winton, Calif. Stolte, Inc., of Monterey, submitted the only bid for Section B (covering the sewage disposal plant, a steel-truss bridge and other disposal facilities). It was for $61,422.30. Bids on the project were made by 11 firms.

Currently estimated individual assessments will be five dollars or less per front foot, two dollars less than the original estimate. Hatton Fields will have its sewers at a cost more agreeable to everyone than expected--unless something now unforeseen occurs. When acceptance of the bids is voted by the Sanitary Board, the sewers will become a certainty.

EXTRA CAUTION URGED FOR WEEKEND DRIVING

If you are driving over the Labor Day weekend, remember that the extra day creates an extra traffic hazard, warns the California State Automobile Association.

An outpouring of weekend travel that may exceed previous records is anticipated, in view of the increase in motor vehicle registration, combined with the fact that this is the last long weekend before schools re-open.

This means extra patience and caution will be the keynotes to traffic safety over this Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day, the CSAA points out. For traffic safety, motorists are urged to start early, to hold speed down to safe levels at all times, to keep constantly alert to traffic conditions and to the actions of other drivers, and to avoid taking any chances.

STRAW HAT REVUE WILL BE IN CARMEL SEPTEMBER 19

"You Asked for It," the current Straw Hat Revue, will be presented in Carmel Tuesday, September 19, under the sponsorship of the Monterey County American Women's Voluntary Services.

The Straw Hat Players, young Bay area professionals who gave their first revue four years ago, have received the highest praise from critics and audiences alike. The proceeds from their local appearance will be given by the AWVS to various youth projects, including the Del Monte-Seaside Youth Center and the Carmel Youth Center.

The show will be presented at the Sunset Auditorium, beginning at 8:30 p.m., and will afford local persons the opportunity of seeing what one critic has termed "some of the deftest satire this side of Noel Coward."

Chairman of the local AWVS project is Mrs. Frank G. Ringland. Mrs. Roy Page is in charge of the committee for the revue.

Among the patrons for the presentation are Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Godwin, Kemp Pittman, Mrs. Sydney Fish, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse, Mrs. Charles W. Gates, Brigadier General and Mrs. William H. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor Pillsbury, Colonel and Mrs. R. H. Fitch, Mrs. Louis Lengfeld, Mrs. Joseph W. Skilwell, Mrs. Helen Spruance, Dr. and Mrs. John Gratiot, Mrs. Joseph G. Hooper, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Glaser, Dana Rood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farr, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flavin, Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, Mrs. George Hart and Mrs. Dolly Madison Hiken.

CHARLES LAUGHTON SCHEDULED TO APPEAR IN PACIFIC GROVE

Charles Laughton will be heard in one performance of his one-man show Sunday evening, October 1, in the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium. The famous actor of stage and screen will be presented by Alice Seckels management.

Laughton will give excerpts from his various successes, from Shakespeare and from the Bible, which have thrilled his audiences and men in uniform over a long period. His program also includes many lighter selections, most of which are given from memory.

Hundreds are being turned away wherever Laughton appears. Miss Seckels feels that the people of the Monterey Peninsula are particularly fortunate in having him come to this area as he usually appears only in the larger cities. Arrangements for the local appearance were made with the San Francisco Town Hall.

Mail orders are now being received by Miss Seckels prior to the sale of tickets at local music stores. Requests for them should be addressed to Box 643, Carmel.

SCHAPIRO IS EXCELLENT IN WELL BALANCED PROGRAM

By Geraldine Durbrow

A very practical, distinguished pianist, Mr. Maxim Schapiro, sat at the piano in the Sunset Auditorium last Saturday night and gave a performance that carried away a most appreciative audience.

Mr. Schapiro has great power, which he uses as a force or as a control behind the delicacies and dexterity of his tonal qualities. When he has to use force, the power is again with him as a controlling factor and gives a lovely quality to the deeper and stronger notes.

The program was well balanced. I felt that Mr. Schapiro made a happy choice in Beethoven's Waldstein Sonata for his opening selection, in that it gave little promise of the richness that was to follow--which is right for the purpose of contrast and also for easing an audience into the magnificence of the other selections.

The Milhaud "L'Album de Madame Bovary" was a display of perfection, with the transitions almost imperceptible even though the changes in mood were definitely there. It seemed precision itself, both in the execution and in the composition itself.

The Ten Etudes of Virgil Thompson were delightful, and one of the ten, the Double Glissando (Waltz) was amazingly beautiful. A waltz can be a bore, but there was something unusual about the way that the beat of this one fell on the ear. One expected the usual one, two three--but this time it seemed as if only one of these beats was audible and the other two unheard but still felt. It seemed during the moments of the two "unheard" beats that Mr. Schapiro was reaching out to all the world, gathering in his notes and that, once in his warm, outstretched fingers, they fell delicately and logically with a captivating oddness. All of the ten were extremely simple, but completely devoid of that bleakness which comes as a result of too much conscious striving for simplicity.

These etudes also left the hearer with a very definite feeling of a great fullness in spite of their simplicity, and also with the feeling of a promise of greater and fuller things to come from the composer. The only one that was slightly disappointing was the Ragtime Bass, for I hate to see as soncumate an artist as Virgil Thomson try to write something like this little etude just to be all-encompassing or well-rounded. It is difficult to play on all rungs of the ladder at one time, but I suppose it is human nature to try to do so.

Mr. Schapiro's rendition of three Chopin selections were just right to conclude an evening of so much richness and virtuosity, and the encores, a Chopin nocturne and a Rachmaninoff prelude were like the after-dinner mint that pleasantly concludes a banquet.

NEXT AWS MEETING SEPTEMBER 8

The next meeting of the local American Women's Voluntary Services, sponsors of the forthcoming Straw Hat Revue, will be held Friday, September 8, at the home of Mrs. Richard Bower in Pebble Beach at 1:30 in the afternoon. Members in need of transportation are requested to telephone Mrs. Cyrus Johnson (7-3813), who will make necessary arrangements.

"ALL MY SONS" TO BE REPEATED THIS WEEK

Arthur Miller's "All My Sons," hit of the Golden Bough Players' summer season, will be given two extra performances tonight and tomorrow at Sunset Auditorium.

On the strength of this play and the subsequent "Death of a Salesman," the author has risen to the foremost position among American playwrights today, being rivalled only by Tennessee Williams, whose "Glass Menagerie" was a recent success by the same production group.

"All My Sons" is being given an outstanding production by an unusually competent cast of Peninsula residents, headed by Forrest Barnes in the central role of a wartime industrialist who has manufactured and shipped defective airplane parts to the Army. It is a drama of surpassing power, and was awarded first honors by the New York Drama Critics' Circle two years ago.

The local presentation is recommended as an opportunity for everyone who is not indifferent to new developments in playwriting and fresh production methods. Edward Kuster, the director, says that "until the Peninsula is ready to pay four dollars and eighty cents a seat top for road show productions, and has a theater of capacity to tempt the latter into this territory, the Golden Bough Players will continue frequently to present new plays here when released for local production."

Tickets are on sale in the Golden Bough Court on Ocean Avenue opposite the Pine Inn. Reservations may be made by calling 7-6748.

FIRST AID CLASSES

For civilian defense training in particular and for practical use for anyone, classes in standard and advanced first aid will be given through the Adult Education program at Sunset School on Monday and Wednesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30, beginning September 11. Gene Ricketts will instruct, with Mrs. Peggy Logan as assistant. Andy Wiemann, chairman of Safety Services, urges all those interested to sign up now at the Carmel Red Cross office, as it may be that extra instructors will be needed to accommodate the number wishing first aid training.

Governor Warren last week issued a plea for enlistments in the Red Cross first aid training: "One of the cornerstones of any civilian defense program is first aid, and the Red Cross is our national agency for training and organizing people for first aid in time of disaster. It is estimated that 300,000 should be trained immediately in California. There is no better cause to which a citizen could devote himself at this time than to sign up with the Red Cross and take training in first aid which will enable him to be a part of any civilian defense program presented by the federal government."

GRAHAMS ANNOUNCE MUSICAL PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Graham have announced plans to present an hour-long musical program each week, beginning this Sunday, at their store, the Graham Music Company, at Mission near Sixth, Carmel.

From 3:30 to 4:30 each Sunday afternoon Jack Loren Lindesmith and his pupil, Leslie Doolittle, will play Hammond Organ and piano selections. The first half of the program will be given over to requested selections, and the second half to a radio program which will be broadcast from the store over Station KSBW at 4 o'clock. John Bernard, of Washington, D.C., will act as master of ceremonies.

The public is invited to attend the program.

LOCAL AUDUBON SOCIETY PLANS FIELD TRIP

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society's 1950-1951 season will open Saturday, September 9, with a field trip to Hopkins Marine Laboratory at China Point, Pacific Grove, and the seashore.

Members of the society and their friends will meet at the laboratory at 9 a.m. The trip will end with a dutch treat picnic lunch.

The society's monthly meeting will be held September 15 at 8 p.m. in Room 11, Sunset School. After a short business session, colored slides will be shown of the activities of the Junior Audubon Camp held last summer in Sequoia National Park. Mr. James Blee and Mrs. F. L. Wallace, camp directors, will comment on the slides. Plans for the coming season of Audubon screen tours will be discussed. The first of these will be given October 14 in Sunset Auditorium, with the well-known photographer, Karl H. Maslowski, showing a new film, "Beneath Buckeye Skies."

DINNER DANCE SUNDAY

Because of the Labor Day holiday there will be dinner dancing Sunday night in the Surf Room at the Beach Club. The Beach Club is open to the public after 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays.

WRITER OF LETTER THAT SHOCKED CARMEL VALLEY. Two weeks ago the SPECTATOR published a letter written by Rollin C. Bortle of Robles Del Rio to a fraternity brother in Washington. The letter contained some rather sensational remarks concerning Valley residents. Since then two letters and a picture have been received from Mr. Bortle. For the benefit of our Valley readers we are publishing the picture with caption supplied by Mr. Bortle, and his last letter. The first letter we are not publishing because of certain comments concerning Valley people and Washington officials.

HERE IS THE CAPTION:

HERE IS THE LETTER:

8-28-50

Mr. M. P. Gould, Publisher
The SPECTATOR, Box A-O
Carmel, Calif.

Dear Mr. Gould:

Re yours 8-25-50 I enclose check for $1.11 for 10 copies of your paper of 8-18-50 plus $.11 postage.

I am interested in your statement: "Newspaper ethics prohibits my saying where I secured the letter published." For several years after graduation from Penn I reported for The Phila. Press & we were never permitted to print a Personal Letter without written permission of the author. This letter was purely personal & a copy was sent to Haber to warn him. Since I wrote you I've been in contact with Robles friends & in reply to your sentence: "If you have any comments regarding the new petition we would be glad to have them," I quote the following remarks made by these friends:-

1- "You sent a copy of your letter to Haber who wouldn't print it. He sent it to Brownell who showed it to SPECTATOR EDITOR who said he wanted it & would find out if anyone could be sued for libel for printing same. Eventually he printed same in the paper." I spent Saturday at the Reno Horse Show with my lawyer (since 1942) & he advises me that you had no right to print a copy of a private letter without my permission as the Robles P.O. had my summer address & you could have easily contacted me before publication.

2- "Glad you had the courage of your convictions. I have written the Postmaster General. August 24, 1950." (An old Washington friend!)

3- "Understand Haber has sold his house & moved over to the other side of Los Laureles grade to a house recently remodeled. Let's hope they will get a second rebuff in trying to change the name. Why not call the whole Village Robles Del Rio?"

I had the pleasure of meeting you at Porter's Del Monte Club one July evening while my son & I were guests at the Robles Del Rio Lodge before returning to our Tahoe Lodge which I've owned since 1942 when I first became a Nevada resident after 30 years in Wall Street. We leave here 9-5-50 to return my son to Monterey Peninsula College for his 2d Term so if you have any comment on my lawyer's opinion above I can be reached after 9-1-50 at "Rancho El Recreo" Box 96, Robles Del Rio, Monterey Co., Calif.

Cordially yours,
Rollin C. Bortle.

Mrs. Sargent of SARGANT'S HEALTH & SPECIALTY FOODS is delighted that in her new location on Sixth across from the Village Corner the passersby are discovering in her window other necessary and luxury items besides what the general public considers to be strictly health foods. For instance, wild rice and dried and fine fruits can be purchased at Sargent's. Mrs. Sargent has, too, a special line of non-alcoholic flavorings that do not boil, bake or freeze out. There are also miniature size containers of seasonings - garlic, curry, chili and so on - as well as a good selection of herbs, many varieties of flour and mill products, and an extensive line of vitamins made from natural foods.

Mrs. Sargent is awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Adelaide O'Brien, who for many years worked with Dr. T. A. McKay, of Tacoma, and who also managed the Sunrise Mineral Springs at Hubbard, Oregon. With this trained help and the variety of the stock, Mrs. Sargent aims to have satisfied customers.

Do you sometimes forget weekend items? Do you suddenly decide to go on a picnic on a Sunday when the fog lifts and the sun shines? Do you wonder what grocery store is conveniently open? Well, the answer is the CARLTON GROCERY, on Ocean and Dolores. This is one of Carmel's oldest grocery stores and is now being operated by the friendly Frolli's (father and son) for the convenience of Carmelites and the tourists who come to Carmel for a weekend with the trust that some stores will remain open to serve them. The store hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on week days and 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

I stopped in at the DOLORES BAKERY on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh, a hard place to pass by on account of the wonderful, irresistible odors of freshly baked bread and cakes coming from inside. I saw gaily decorated birthday cakes which Mrs. Frey told me could be obtained on a day's notice. Carousel and cowboy themes are used for the decorations, and either would make a youngster's eyes open wide with delight and pleasure. The pumpkin pie, cheese cake and upside-down cake are hard to beat for their home-baked taste and quality. Undoubtedly this bakery has as great a selection of pastry as can be found on the Peninsula, which is evidenced by the throngs that gather in this hospitable spot to buy their bakery and pastry goods.

STALLINGS STAMP SHOP, a well-ordered and meticulously operated little shop, reflects the fact that Mr. Leland Stallings, a collector of the highest caliber, has done his best in the work of his choice. Mr. Stallings told me that the complete Volume II of the International Postage Stamp Album is now in stock for the first time. This includes the 1950 supplement. The sheets for this volume can be purchased separately or complete with the binder. Mrs. Stallings gave me some very interesting facts about stamp collecting that I will pass on to you. England was the first country to issue a stamp, known as the "Penny Black," in 1840. In 1874 practically every country was listed in the Universal Postage Union, and 1949 saw the 75th commemoration of that event. This is one of the few, or perhaps the only, world organization that has worked successfully. The United States is about to issue its 996th stamp.

Stamp collecting is a sound hobby for many reasons. It has universal appeal. People in all walks of life collect stamps. At the same time it can be highly personalized. One's artistic, engineering or constructive talents can be developed--the latter through the selection and arrangement of the stamps on a blank page, if one chooses to work that way. One's aptitude for research can be brought out. For instance, in South America birds are frequently used on stamps. Why this is so has led some people to investigate the customs and history of a people. Stamp collecting develops the fraternal side of man, and a very practical side to stamp collecting is that the money and hours spent on it are not wasted, for like jewelry or silver, one's investment is always there and can be liquidated should one care to do so.

At KAY'S KNITTING KLINIC, where I had a nice visit with the two attractive and helpful ladies who operate this shop, I discovered some wonderfully light and durable Lauhala baskets in several sizes, made of the natural bleached Lauhala, a fiber obtained from the Pandanus tree. They can be used as knitting bags, handbags or beach bags, depending on the size and need. I noticed a particularly useful one that will hold long knitting needles if one wishes to carry one's knitting in it, or it may be used as a beach bag as it will nicely take a rolled towel and a lunch. They may be had either lined or unlined--and they're easily lined should one care to do it. Now is the time to start thinking of long evenings at home by the fire...and with the help of Mrs. C. W. Kraul or Miss Esther Kopke, the sweater or socks you are planning to knit, perhaps for a loved one's Christmas present, could be started now.

I had a very quickly and pleasantly served dinner the other evening. From the booths there is a nice view of the park and over the counter the Joe Mura murals add a gay note. Where? At the CARMEL RESTAURANT AND FOUNTAIN, under the capable management of Benny Yeban at Ocean Avenue and Mission. The meals are excellent and reasonably priced, and this restaurant is conveniently open every day including Sundays from 7 A.M. to 8:30 P.M. It's a handy place to drop in after a matinee for dinner or for something at the fountain.

The POWDER PUFF BEAUTY SHOPPE, located in Las Tiendas Court, is happy to announce that it has added to its staff Mr. Graham, formerly of Palm Springs, and Mr. Walker, formerly of the Cameo Room, San Francisco. Mr. Graham will specialize in artistic hair coloring and styling and Mr. Walker in hair shaping and permanent waving. This will relieve the situation at the shop caused by the recent induction of the former stylist. The owner was obliged to turn down appointments, and she wishes to say that she regretted this very much and would appreciate hearing again from those she was forced to turn down for this reason. The telephone number is 7-6919.

"GREAT BOOKS" GROUP WILL MEET TUESDAY AT SUNSET AUDITORIUM

A panel of Peninsula residents, including a retired Navy officer, an author and a carpenter, will argue the Declaration of Independence and the Communist Manifesto at the Sunset School Auditorium, in Carmel, next Tuesday, September 5, at 8 p.m.

The discussion, under the auspices of the Monterey Peninsula Great Books Program, will be led by Professor James L. Hagerty of St. Mary's College, Oakland, and Milton Mayer, special representative of the Great Books Foundation, Chicago. The public is invited, and admission is free.

Members of the panel are James Campbell, accountant; Henry Dickinson, retired lawyer; Norman Duxbury, carpenter; Martin Flavin, author; Mrs. Zena Holman, merchant; Mrs. Richard Lofton, housewife and mother; Dr. Robert Parsons, retired Navy officer; Thomas Perry, City Attorney; the Rev. Alfred B. Secombe, minister; Dr. Olive Swezy, retired professor; Mrs. Dorothy von Meier, housewife and mother, and Francis Whittaker, iron worker.

There have been Great Books groups on the Peninsula for the past two years, and steps are being taken to organize the program formally and obtain assistance from the Great Books Foundation in the training of lay leaders. Present headquarters of the program is the Harrison Memorial Library, Carmel, and all inquiries should be addressed there.

After an hour's discussion of the Declaration and the Manifesto, the Tuesday evening program will be opened for questions and discussion from the audience. Chairman of the meeting will be Herbert Heron, of Carmel.

SPREADING the NEWS...

By Howard Statham

A Carmel gentleman was stopped on Dolores Street near the post office the other day by a lady he had never seen before. Her eyes had a rather tired look about them, and it was obvious from her manner that they weren't functioning as well as they should have been.

"Did I leave my glasses over at your house last night by any chance?" she enquired.

"No, you didn't," the gentleman replied truthfully.

"Well, I thought maybe I had walked off without them after all the excitement," she said, and added, as she wandered away in the general direction of the post office to pick up a few letters that she probably wouldn't be able to read, "I can't imagine where in the world..."

ANYONE WHO SERVED in the armed forces during the second World War (or in any war, as a matter of fact) knows that while things now and then are likely to get pretty hot, there are still long stretches in between when life can be slightly on the dull side. The Red Cross knows it too, and now the Carmel chapter is calling for used magazines, please.

With the troop trains rolling once more, the Red Cross plans to furnish the G.I.'s with reading material, preferably of recent vintage, to help pass the time when they have to hurry up and wait. Any quantity can be used, and the bundles can be dropped off at the Carmel Red Cross chapter house on Dolores Street, near Sixth.

"SOUTH PACIFIC" HAS NOTHING on Monday night's meeting of the sanitary board, as everyone has probably heard by this time. Of course, if the council had been charging admission it might have been a different story, but as it was the crowd was overflowing onto the porch and the standees were, with a few exceptions, an unhappy lot.

"They have a meeting and won't even let you in," said one lady. "It's crazy," she added, before disappearing into the fog whence she had come.

"They ought to have a loudspeaker for people out here," another woman commented. Mayor Knight please note.

Others muttered things about the advisability of switching the meeting to the parish hall or the auditorium of Sunset School, but their suggestions were met only with black looks and hisses from those who had managed to station themselves within the building.

One lady, however, appeared to be enjoying the night air and seemed to find the unintelligible murmur of voices that drifted through the doors an acceptable background for her own pleasant conversation with an acquaintance. The topic under discussion was gardening, and, from the occasional word I caught, it seems that rabbits have been getting into her genistras, which sounds like a bad thing indeed. Perhaps, on a less crowded night, if she would care to lay the problem in the lap of the sanitary board...

THEATER'S POLICY of showing foreign films on Wednesday and Thursday nights is off to a nice start with "Tight Little Island," a mention of the next few films on the list might not be out of place. If the people of this vicinity are going to see good foreign pictures without having to go to San Francisco to do it, the pictures have to have a theater to be shown in-- which means that the more the public supports the venture the better the chances are of keeping good films coming this way. So, if you're interested in some pretty good stuff, you might plan to keep your Wednesday or Thursday evenings for the Carmel Theater for a while.

Next week the picture will be "The Red Shoes," a British picture starring Moira Shearer, Anton Walbrook and Marius Goring. This is the one that ran for so long at San Francisco's Stagedoor Theater (outrunning even "Henry V" and "Hamlet") that almost everyone but the management of the theater lost count of the number of months it played. It began to look almost as permanent as the cable cars.

The following week, "Saints and Sinners" will be in town. Another import from England, its cast consists for the main part of the players of Dublin's Abbey Theater, and from it you can very pleasantly get the lowdown on what goes on in an Irish village.

And after that, still from England, comes "Kind Hearts and Coronets," starring Alec Guinness, the star of the Broadway production of T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," who plays eight different persons in the film, none of whom are on hand for the final fadeout. It's about murder, in case you didn't know, and it's said to be very civilized...and very funny.

MONTEREY PENINSULA COLLEGE OPENING

September 7 is opening day for the Monterey Peninsula College, with registration being completed today. The total number of registrants will not be known until next week, but the pre-registration figure is larger than ever before - 200 as compared to 50 last year.

A new addition to the College this fall is a music department, to be headed by Dr. Harvey Marshall, a Stanford University graduate. A music building is in the process of construction and Listening Rooms and a radio broadcasting room have been installed in the Library Building, the latter having been dressed during the summer by exterior stuccoing and a new shake roof.

As a service to out-of-town students, a bus has been purchased by the College which will operate between Monterey and Santa Cruz and Watsonville. "We anticipate," President Flint says, "that this service will mean an additional enrollment to the College of 40 or 50 students."

BUSINESS ASSOCIATION PLANS DINNER MEETING

The Carmel Business Association will hold a dinner meeting at the Mission Ranch banquet hall at 7:30 P.M., Thursday, September 14. Members are invited to bring guests with them. Speakers will be chairmen of the various committees for the Monterey County Fair.
